University Board of Regents Approve Appointment of Dr. King As Dean

The appointment of Dr. John E. King, as associate professor and academic dean at UMD was confirmed Saturday by the board of regents of the University of Minnesota, Dr. Raymond C. Gibson, provost, announced Monday.

Dr. King, who comes from Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., will assume his duties at UMD Nov. 1.

Dr. E. H. Peiper, dean of Duluth State Teachers college during the past year, will devote full time to his work as chairman of the social studies division and professor of history. He requested the regents not to consider him as a candidate for the new position.

Dr. King received his B.A. degree in 1932 from North Texas State Teachers college, his M.S. from the University of Arkansas in 1936, and Ph.D. from Cornell university in 1941.

He began his career in education as a high school teacher and athletic coach in Texas. He has served as an educational adviser and superintendent in various schools in the Southwest.

During World War II, as an officer in the navy, he served in the Pacific area.

Immediately after his discharge in 1946, he returned to Cornell to become assistant professor of secondary education and chairman of the Bureau of Educational service.

Dr. King is married and has two children.

Assistantships Awarded To Qualified Students

Under the University, student assistantships have been made available to qualified persons in the various divisions of the college. These appointments are made directly by the division chairman rather than by an administrative committee. Wages of the assistants were increased from the $.50 per hour of last year to $.75 per hour this year. The following appointments have been made:

Social Studies: Marilyn Nelson, Mabel Schauland, Willard Hessen, Leonard Goranson, Edward Hakkarainen.

Languages: Ethel Lakes, Dorothy Magnuson, and Cinda Rogers in the English department; Beverly Matthews in the department of speech.

Fine Arts: Margaret Hodgson, office work; Mary Bartelt, music office work; Betty J. Carlson, Marilyn Erickson, Joyce Nordstrom, May Maki and Alice Swanson, music assistants; Angeline Engh and Nettie Neufeld, home economics work; Marion Campaigne, art office work.

Science: Ludwig Hiti, Roy Kent, Kathleen Korgen and Lloyd Green in the mathematics department; Henry Greiser and Willard Pinney, physics; Mary Miller, botany; Kirby Vann, Howard Munson and Richard Latterall, zoology; Paul Newman, Wayne Martin, Eunice Anderson, Richard Hoff, McRae Johnson, Ione Thompson, John Cadotte and Janice Ledingham, chemistry.

Education: Fred Proff, Helen Farrell, psychology assistants; Joseph Janezich, Mary Riley and June Nielson, assistants in education.

Physical Education: Mary Christie, Ruth Anderson, Barbara Rotvig, Ed Hill, Dan Devine, David Jamieson.

Welcome Home!

The newly-formed Duluth Branch of the University of Minnesota welcomes the homecoming graduates of Duluth State Teachers college.

Old grads will give their Alma Mater roots in the traditions of the past. The new Alma Mater will give the old grads a new interest in the future.

Traditional Bonfire Set for Tonight; Parade Will Open Saturday Program

The first UMD homecoming plans have been completed and promise a very full weekend for UMD students.

Today is Green and Gold day and activities get under way tonight with the annual bonfire at Chester bowl. The big blaze will be touched off at 7:30 p. m.

The Saturday program starts with the Homecoming parade, which will form at 10 a. m. between Sixth avenue west and Ninth avenue west on Michigan street. Campus organizations are building floats to be entered in competition for the trophy being offered by the D club. In order for entries to be eligible for the trophy they must be entered with Dale Nelson or Jim Hastings, parade chairmen.

A second trophy is to be given by the D club to the best band participating in the parade. Besides the UMD band there will be many high school bands of the area included in the procession.

At 2 p. m. Saturday the UMD Bulldogs will meet the Moorhead State Teachers college gridders at Ordean field for the homecoming football game. The half-time ceremonies will include the crowning of the Queen of Athletics, who was elected by the students Wednesday at an assembly.

Following the game the D club will hold a banquet reunion at 6 p. m. in the Arrowhead Room of the Hotel Duluth.

Bringing the festivities to a close will be the informal homecoming dance from 9 to 12 p. m. in the Hotel Duluth ballroom. Music will be furnished by Johnny Kolarik's orchestra and there will be a 15-minute broadcast over station KDAL directly from the ballroom. Admission to the dance will be free to UMD students.

For the benefit of the alumni there will be a booth in the lobby of the Hotel Duluth where tickets for the game and dance may be obtained. The booth will be open from 4 to 7 p. m. today and tomorrow morning and afternoon.

Directing the homecoming preparations are George McNamara and Mary Jane Killam, general co-chairmen.

Devine Reigns Over Festivities

Joanne Devine was chosen Homecoming Queen at the assembly meeting Wednesday morning. Runners-up Kitty Bocklund, Beatrice Koski, Jeanne Peterson, and Alice J. Anderson are members of the queen's court.

Sponsored by the University Guild Players, Queen Joanne will be crowned during halftime ceremonies at the UMD-Moorhead game Saturday.

Joanne

Her husband, Dan Devine, captain of the football team, will do the honors. She is now in her senior year at UMD, a major in speech, with minors in social studies and English. Her favorite sports are golf (she's a champion at that, too,) and swimming. When questioned as to her hobbies the brown-haired, brown-eyed young lady replied, "Mostly Danny."

After leaving college, Mrs. Devine plans to "settle down to being a school teacher's wife."

Twenty-year-old Kitty Bocklund, a junior art major, hopes to continue her studies in an art school after graduating from UMD. She plans to make commercial art her career.

Home Economics Club Announces Bake Sale

Patricia Held, president of the Home Economics club has announced that the club is planning a Bake Sale to be held in the main hall Wednesday, Oct. 29.

Membership in the Home Economics club is open to all interested women of the college as well as to home economics majors and minors.

Bea Koski, the Rangers' candidate, hails from Ely where she was graduated from the junior college. This is her first year at UMD. She is majoring in history. Bea will celebrate her twentieth birthday Oct. 27.

Freshman contribution to the court, Jeanne Peterson, received her honor as a present for her eighteenth birthday, Oct. 15. The daughter of Coach and Mrs. Lloyd W. Peterson, Jeanne is fond of tennis and swimming and is a member of WAA.

Sophomore Alice Anderson of Rochester is a music major. But music is not just work for her. Nineteen-year-old Alice lists it as a favorite hobby along with swimming, skating, and skiing.

Guild Players Advance Season Ticket Plan

The University Guild Players are launching the show business in earnest this quarter. Season tickets of $4.00 for five plays will be on sale by the Guild. A guest ticket will be included with the season ticket at no extra charge.

Members of the Guild and other students interested in seeing the New York stage production, "Fatal Weakness," starring Ina Clare, will leave UMD for Minneapolis on Monday, Oct. 20, at 3 p. m.

Registrar's Office Releases Calendar

Calendar for the fall quarter at UMD has been released by the office of the registrar. November offers two holidays: Armistice day, Tuesday, Nov. 11 and Thanksgiving, Thursday, Nov. 27. The quarter will end Thursday, Dec. 18.

UMD Health Service Operates With New Doctor and Larger Staff

With new staff members, new services, and new pills, the UMD Health Service is now open for such business as aches, pains, and accidents that may occur on campus.

Warren J. Brooker, M.D., University of Iowa, is the new university doctor. Any student who wants to consult him between the hours of 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. daily, except Saturday and Sunday, may make an appointment through the Health Service office, Washburn hall. There is no limit to the number of consultations a student may arrange.

Miss Hilda Schumacher, public health nurse, of the Health Service staff since last year, will be assisted by a new appointee, Miss Betty Riddell, registered nurse, Misericordia hospital, Winnipeg, Canada.

For an emergency the Health Service will send the university physician to any part of the campus. The person putting in the call is asked to state his name, exact information concerning the location of the patient, the nature of the emergency, and, if possible, the name of the patient.

Twenty-four hour health service is available for out-of-town students living in rented rooms within a mile radius of the campus. Fifty cents will be charged for daytime calls. Between the hours of 6 p. m. and 8 p. m., the charge will be one dollar. Requests for calls should be made through the Health Service, Washburn hall, Hemlock 7974, during the daytime. Between hours of 5 p. m. and 8 a. m. calls will be taken at the nurse's office, Torrance hall.

Infirmity care or hospitalization will be advised where there is any indication that the patient should be properly observed or treated over a period of one or more days. Infirmity rooms for both men and women will be available. Supervision of the university doctor, nursing

Alumni, Students Contribute to First

UMD Homecoming

Restraint of college life yields today and tomorrow to pepfests, bonfires, and parades as enthusiasm for the inaugural homecoming celebration of UMD hits the boiling point. Gaiety will be the keynote in this full round of get-togethers honoring the old grads.

The alumni of the Duluth State Teachers college will return to see their alma mater vastly changed by the school's new status. As friendships are renewed they will marvel at the renovations of each campus building, the record-breaking enrollment, and the expanded curricula. These graduates have proved in the past and continue to give evidence that they did not immediately lose interest in their college when they walked off the commencement platform. The alumni of DSTC, with other civic-minded citizens, did much toward making the college a branch of the University of Minnesota. They are lending active support to future expansion plans.

All of us at UMD must demonstrate to Duluthians what an asset they possess in the growing university. We can do this by our fighting school spirit and love of fun which will be shown by this Homecoming festival.

Save Europe By Saving Food

Recent world events point unmistakably to political and ideological strife for many years to come. It is significant that the same day the food-saving program was announced by President Truman, Communist leaders from nine countries were calling for a movement of the masses to halt "U. S. imperialism."

While the U. S. attempts to alleviate the suffering of the European peoples, and to ameliorate the conditions prevailing in those countries, the Communists shriek charges of "warmongering"—accusations which differ from those of the late and unlamented Herr Goebbels only by the addition of Marxist phraseology.

Russia's answer to the Marshall plan is declaration of outright political warfare on the United States—warfare not only on the U. S., but upon all nations which hold political democracy to be the highest form of social organization.

The Marshall plan was devised to assist the European countries' recovery. Its chief purpose is to prevent by the mitigation of national poverty the spread of totalitarianism, to erode by a flood of dollars and food the fertile soil in which social malcontent is nourished by professional revolutionaries.

America's reply to the challenge for world leadership is linked to the outcome of the food-saving plan. It is our job, as college students, to cooperate with the President's program, to urge others to do so, to save food and waste less. That is a small premium to pay on universal insurance against chaos. A free people, united in their firm resolve, cannot fail.

DEAR EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Isn't it about time UMD had a new school song? The "Green and Gold" has become as outmoded as the horse and buggy. No amount of revision will make it suit the purpose.

"Anxious"

Ed.—Mr. Magnell has composed such a number and there soon may be a contest for the lyrics. The tune was played during the halftime at the Winona game.

Dear Sir:

In reply to the letter written by John Milne concerning the averred beneficial effect of long skirts upon grades of men in college.

Only time will decide Mr. Milne's point but I do not agree that long skirts will raise either grades or the morals of men. Read the life of Shelley. Skirts were dragging the floor then and moral standards were somewhere beneath the floorboards.

Student of English History

Editor:

Wouldn't it be a good idea to have one official bulletin board, as they have in so many other schools, rather than having so many scattered boards all over the school? It is very difficult to find out many important things that are going on around the campus, what with the board cluttered up with holdovers from last year and information of interest only to a few students. For instance, when an instructor changes rooms one must look through every room on the campus to be sure of finding his class. Let's have one bulletin board on which only the faculty or administration can post notices, and which will carry notices of interest to large groups of students. After all, we have students' mail boxes for little personal items. And when we get such a board, let's keep it up to date.

Who Is Coming Home?

Hubbub Puzzles Frosh

"Strictly" Freshman is not exactly a bright fellow. On the other hand it would hardly be fair to call him stupid. He just has a knack for never knowing what the score is.

"Strictly" is very bewildered by all this business about "homecoming." Who is coming home, and from where? Is "Homecoming" an Old Grad reunion?

To add to his consternation, the halls are full of posters bearing cryptic messages and pictures of pretty girls. The pretty girls are nice to look at, of course, and they almost take his mind off the perplexing slogans which accompany them. But not quite. "Strictly" has been in a dither lately, trying to figure it all out.

One girl, it appears, is named Joanne Devine. A nice name all right and from her picture Joanne appears to be a nice girl. That's why "Strictly" is worried when he hears about a "Devine Barbecue" sandwich being served in the Guild Gulch. Cannibalism on the campus?!

Then there's the large poster that says: "Kill 'em with Killam." Must be an insecticide advertisement.

"Bea Koski, best of all,
Backed by the Rangers
For Queen this fall."

How does one go about "bea-ing" Koski? And what's so good about being one, anyway? And who are the Rangers? "This fall" suggests a wrestling match. Perhaps that's what the "Homecoming game" is, a wrestling match.

There's something about a "Queen" mixed up with it all. "Strictly" thought all along that the provost was the head of the university. It's all very perplexing.

Duluth Presents . . .

"Dear Ruth," the comedy hit which enjoyed such a long run on Broadway, will begin an eight day run at the Duluth Playhouse at eight twenty-five this evening. The production is under the direction of Ulmont Healy, who tonight begins his fifth year at the Playhouse. Mr. Healy, who directed such past Playhouse hits as "Angel Street," "Aaron Shanks," and "The Late George Apley," has nothing but praise for "Dear Ruth." The play is basically so good that stage and screen versions are almost exactly alike. Joan Potter, Harriet Fox, Marcia Nolan, and LeRoy Moore hold down the leading roles, and from all indications the Playhouse has come through with another sparkler.

The Symphony Orchestra begins the new season Friday night at 8:30 under a new conductor, Joseph Wagner. Guest artist will be Devy Erlih, brilliant young French violinist. Erlih's rendition of Beethoven's beautiful "Violin Concerto" should prove the high spot of the evening.

Fashion Highlights

By Lois McDonald

Whether you like 'em or not, girls, reconcile yourselves to the fact that you will be wearing them—and, incidentally, liking it. Longer skirts are definitely "in" and likely to stay. So let down those hems and follow the fashion trend.

If you aren't completely in accord with all the whims of the latest styles, don't worry. There is a plentiful variety from which to choose, and one or another is bound to suit you.

Naturally you will want a suit. Who doesn't? You'll find a wide choice of materials and styles. Corduroy is more popular than ever before. It's perfect for a tailored sport suit or shorty coat. The Rayn twins, Mary and Jean, are sporting beige corduroy shorties with smart plaid linings. These can be worn over anything from jeans to formals.

Glen plaids are back, and we love them. Saw Charlene Hector wearing a beautiful tailored suit in soft rose and gray the other day.

For a dressy suit we'll cast our vote for Mary Lee Pearce's black faille. It features a straight skirt with slits at the side and a cutaway peplum.

Looking for something different in a winter coat? How about a full length with a half-belt across the back, and a loose front? These come with detachable hoods. Some have the new dipping hemline which is longer in the back.

Plaids are everywhere. Bright tartans add just the right touch when used to trim a plain dark coat. This might be a good idea to rejuvenate that old black coat that's just too good to throw away. Large window-pane checks are especially attractive in blending shades of blue, green, or brown.

For something a bit dressier, we have seen some gorgeous tuxedo coats in every color of the rainbow. These, too, featured full backs and dipping hemlines. Saw one shorty fully-lined in grey Persian lamb—and not too expensive either.

With your new coat and suit you just can't fail to be the belle of the campus. (Yes, all of you).

SAVE

Eat Less Plan Lauded

Since President Truman's new food-saving program has gone into effect, there have been innumerable editorials and commentaries expressing the usual pros and cons. One the whole, students of UMD and their families are in favor of supporting the plan, as evidenced by the following opinions:

Gordon Lund, senior-veteran: When I was overseas I saw plenty of people starving and it was terrible. Believe me, if the plan works, I think it's a fine idea.

Mrs. Clifford Miller, wife of student-veteran: As it's a voluntary thing, there's some doubt as to whether it will work. But I think some people will find it easy to follow because they became accustomed to doing without things during the war.

Vincent Balasco, freshman student from the Philippines: It's an excellent measure, showing true American spirit.

Angeline Engh, home economics student: It doesn't hurt any of us to cut down a little on certain items, providing we substitute the proper foods.

Ronald Carnes, sophomore-veteran: If the Europeans need food, we can spare it. We don't know what real rationing is. No one starved here in the States even when war was at its peak.

Dan Devine, captain of football team: I think sending food to Europe is a necessity, but I hope they cooperate with us to make this plan successful.

Ward Evans, student: I think we'll need the support and cooperation of everyone if the program is to fulfill its purpose.

Dr. Salz Grants Interview

"I believe the future of Austria is closely linked with that of Europe as a whole," asserted attractive, Austrian-born Dr. Lily Salz. The language instructor turned from work in her third-floor Washburn office and pointed out that, although the people of Austria have suffered much, they are not in as critical condition as some of their less fortunate neighbors. She observed that Austria has subdued the Communists so far, but questions the government's ability to hold out indefinitely.

Punctuating her remarks with quick gestures, Miss Salz refused to comment on what ought to be done to aid Europe. "I don't know," she said, "I am no political genius. In fact," she added with a wry smile, "the political geniuses don't seem to know either."

Miss Salz received her M.A. from the University of Wisconsin, and earned her Ph.D. there in 1943, majoring in French and minoring in German.

Summing up our little conversation, Miss Salz remarked, "I am really quite enthusiastic about being a member of the UMD faculty. It is unfortunate, however, that the University does not require two years of a language for a B.A. degree. It is gratifying to me, in spite of this, that so many interested students have enrolled by choice in my classes. I know I shall be happy here."

Campus Profiles

MARY JANE KILLAM

President of W.A.A., a member of Orchesis, Discussion club, and Barkers—just to mention a few of the things that keep Mary Jane Killam one of the busiest girls on the campus. She also teaches swimming and sports to business women and children at the YWCA and has been a camp counselor for three years.

The amazing part of it all is that Mary Jane still has time to spend on several hobbies—among them swimming, knitting, and very adeptly sewing many of her own clothes.

Little wonder that she was selected by W.A.A. members to represent them in 1946 at the convention of the Athletic Federation of College Women in Greensboro, North Carolina. Her sparkling smile and likeable personality make her a pleasant co-worker and companion to all who know her. Hollywood has its Esther Williams; but we have our "Janie."

Czech Authority To Talk at Assembly

Is peace between the United States and Soviet Russia possible? This will be the subject of Dr. Stefan Osusky's talk to be given before a special assembly Monday, 10:30 a. m.

Dr. Osusky, Czechoslovakian diplomat, and recognized authority on Soviet Russia, is at present visiting professor at Colgate university.

Previous to the outbreak of World War II, he was Czechoslovakian minister to France. In 1918 he served as his country's minister to the Court of St. James. He was also secretary general of the Czechoslovakian delegation to the 1919 Peace Conference, as well as delegate to the Reparations commission and the League of Nations assembly.

Gertrude Lippincott, Noted Dancer, Will Appear Here in Evening Program

Miss Gertrude Lippincott, an outstanding dancer and choreographic artist, will make her second appearance in Duluth Thursday, 8:15 p.m. Oct. 23, in the auditorium. Miss Lippincott will appear under the auspices of the UMD chapter of Orchesis, national honorary dance society.

Miss Lippincott first appeared in Duluth in May, 1942. Since then she has traveled extensively, dancing in concert at New York, Boston, Detroit, Minneapolis and other cities. Miss Lippincott will give Duluthians another opportunity to see Modern Dance. She has studied under such leading exponents of modern dance as Doris Humphrey, Hanya Holm, Charles Weidman and Martha Graham.

In 1943 she received her Master's Degree in dance at New York University. She has held the position of dance instructor at various colleges and universities such as Mount Holyoke college in Massachusetts, the Universities of Ohio, Indiana, Purdue, Minnesota and many others. At present she is an artist-in-residence at Hamline university. Miss Lippincott has written numerous articles on modern dancing. Also among her experiences is the study of European dances at London, Berlin and Warsaw.

Included in the program she will present are two of her newest arrangements. They are "Pastorale," a dance of lyrical charm set to music by Francis Poulenc and "Three Indecisions,"

Cambridge Club Holds Organization Meeting

The newly organized Cambridge club for Congregational students at UMD held its first meeting last night at the Pilgrim Congregational church. Dinner was served to members at 6 p.m.

All UMD students have been invited to attend the Cambridge club meetings, even though they are of another denomination than Congregational. Those interested may contact Laird Goodman, Dave Hanson, or Jess Page for information.

an amusing piece of tom-foolery with music especially written by Lionel Nowack.

Accompanist for Miss Lippincott will be Margaret Stableski of the MacPhail School of Music of Minneapolis. She will play scores by Lionel Nowack, Louis Horst and Freda Miller.

Students may use their activities cards for admittance.

UMD Students Come From Thirteen States

Thirteen states, a territory, and three foreign countries are represented at this college. Students from such distant places as Hawaii, California, New York, Virginia, Utah, and Colorado have come to study here. More interesting is the fact that this school has attracted students from Canada, Peru, and the Philippine Islands.

Other colleges have nothing on us either when it comes to married students. There are 165 married men and 14 wives studying here. Mama and Papa are now very much a part of campus life.

Debate Call Is Issued

John C. Converse announced that any students interested in debating sign up on the bulletin outside room 216. This is to determine whether or not to have a debate squad this year, which Mr. Converse is willing to coach.

New Demands To Be Met

Library Plans Expansion

This is the second in a series of articles featuring our campus.

For the past year the UMD library has bulged under the stress and strain of a greatly enlarged student body. The nearly doubled enrollment and the attendant need for the expansion of library facilities are being met by plans for an increase of library floor space in the not-too-distant future.

Tentatively scheduled for conversion to the library are room 203, formerly the business office, and room 205 which in the past has served as the office of the Teachers college president. Room 203, which will be opened as soon as the chairs can be purchased, will accommodate about two dozen students. Room 205, which will have to undergo extensive alteration, will eventually serve an equal number. Even the addition of these two units will not alleviate the situation permanently, however. Sooner or later, more comprehensive steps, such as the construction of a separate library building will have to be taken.

It is the earnest hope of Miss Beulah M. Larson, library department head, along with Mrs.

J. R. Barber, Miss Mary L. Ober, and the several student assistants who round out the staff, that the students will bear with them during the present emergency and continue to use the library's facilities to the full extent of their needs.

In turn, the students can expect from the staff the best possible service available under the present strained circumstances.

Clubs Slate Meetings

The Kappa Omicron Fraternity, society of social workers, announces the following officers elected for the year 1947-48: Fred Proff, president; Lois Dille, vice president; June Haglund, secretary; and Lorraine Tofte, treasurer.

A dinner meeting with a guest speaker will be held Oct. 23 at the Lincoln Hotel.

Weekly meetings of the UMD Christian Fellowship have been scheduled by Barbara Phillips, president.

Willis Olson will conduct the Bible study sessions each Monday noon in room 309.

Special speakers will be featured at the Friday noon meetings.

Officers of the Discussion club will be elected at the meeting, October 23.

Roy Maki will begin the discussion with a speech at noon in room 1.

Alumni of UMD will hold their annual meeting and social hour at Tweed hall, this evening at 8. Faculty members are invited to attend.

To all students interested in working on UMD STATESMAN: Staff meeting Monday noon, Washburn hall, room 32.

Newman Club Elects

New Officers, Adviser

Robert E. Martin, supervisor of the sixth grade in the campus laboratory school, has been chosen by the Newman club to serve as their adviser for the 1947-48 school year.

New officers elected at the Oct. 9 meeting include John Pocrnich, vice president; Frances Arimond, secretary; and James McCarthy, treasurer. Georgianne Chaput was named chairman of the membership committee.

Bulldogs Bare Teeth for Homecoming Tilt with Moorhead

Basketball Prospects At UMD Are Good For Coming Season

The basketball season is just around the corner. A quick glance at the cage situation shows that the Bulldogs have a good chance of ending the cage season at the top of the State Teachers conference standings. Seven lettermen will return to the hardwood court for the Green and Gold this winter. There is a promising array of new talent also. Many of the star performers of last year's local high school teams, transfers from other colleges, and returned servicemen, who gained their cage experience elsewhere, are now enrolled at UMD.

A tentative and lengthy schedule of non-conference games is being drawn up by the new basketball coach, Joe Gerlach, and athletic director, Lloyd Peterson. There is a good possibility that the Bulldogs' first game will be against the U of Minnesota Varsity at Cloquet early in December. The game would be on a Friday night and would precede a basketball clinic to be conducted on Saturday by Dave McMillan.

WAA Sponsors Recreation Event

Fellows and girls may look forward to a recreation day some time in November. Sponsored by the Women's Athletic association, students will have an opportunity to participate in team sports during the day. A barn dance will close the day's program.

WAA activities began Friday, Oct. 10 with volleyball and will be held every Friday noon in the gym.

"If enough girls are interested in the forming of teams, we will run intramurals in volleyball, our probable fall sport," announced Mary Jane Killam, president of the WAA.

Other officers of WAA include Ruth Anderson, treasurer; Lois Enquist, secretary; Barbara Rotvig, point recorder; and Dorothy Engebritson, member-at-large.

A business meeting will be held Monday, Oct. 20 at 12 noon in room 113.

Winona State Trips UMD 7-0

Bulldogs Muff Scoring Chances As Alert Warriors Stop Aerial Bid

The UMD Bulldogs lost their second conference game in as many starts last Saturday afternoon when Winona dumped them by a score of 7 to 0 before a skimpy crowd of 300 fans at Ordean field.

A pass interception, a 17-yard plunge for a first down, and a sensational fourth-down pass grab, all by halfback Dick Traxler in the third quarter gave Winona its lone, but winning touchdown. Winona took advantage of their one break to score and Dale Bennett's conversion for a 7 to 0 victory margin.

Excluding the victory toss of substitute fullback, Cook, the Bulldog defense was superb all afternoon giving up but two first downs. The line play of tackle Tom Theborge and center Dave Persha was nothing short of spectacular.

Offensively, however, the Bulldogs just couldn't get going. Backs, Ed Berry and Bob Galinski, did some fancy running, but it just wasn't fancy enough. Several times, if the downfield blocking had been better, Berry and Galinski would have been off to touchdown land. A couple of Bulldog passes might have resulted in touchdowns too, if they hadn't just missed the outstretched hands of Bob Galinski.

Nevertheless, the Green and Gold fumbled away their golden opportunity to score on the Warrior one-foot line in the fourth period. The Bulldogs had another good chance to score in the dying moments of the game when Ed Berry caught a Winona punt and then lateraled to Bob Galinski, who scampered along the sidelines to the Warrior nine-yard line. With fifty-five seconds remaining, the Bulldogs tried four aeriels, but they all missed their mark.

It was the third straight setback for Coach Lloyd Peterson's gridders. The Winona defeat put the Bulldogs out of the running

Theborge, Olson, Persha Win Favor With Coaches, Women, Professors

Despite the astounding play of the Bulldog line on defense three defeats mar the Bulldog record in the first four games. The play of the Bulldog forward wall has been brilliant on defense, especially that of the two giant tackles Tom Theborge and Wes Olson, and center Dave Persha. Theborge and Olson are both over the six foot mark and they tip the scales at 204 and 207 respectively. The Bulldog's scrappy little center is around five feet seven inches tall and weighs in at 185. Olson won all-conference honors last year and if opponents didn't see why then, they surely will now. Theborge and Persha are also worthy of any praise that one might give them.

These three football heroes have other extra-curricular activities also, for girls appear to receive quite a bit of their attention too. Football is one of Persha's autumn favorites, but he also likes the hunting he is able to do in the fall. Tom

Dragon Eleven Boasts Undefeated Record In Conference Title Chase

In their second homecoming game since 1942 the UMD Bulldogs meet a powerful Moorhead eleven at 2 p. m. Saturday, Oct. 18, at Ordean field.

The vengeful Dragons will attempt to claw even greater holes in Duluth's already shaky record of one win and three defeats. The lone win was a 31-0 route of an inexperienced Northland college team from Ashland, Wis., in the season's opener. Plagued with injuries, the Bulldogs then bowed to Superior,

St. Cloud, and Winona in that order.

Moorhead, on the other hand, brings with them an almost clean slate. The only blot on their record is a 2-0 forfeit to Mankato State Teachers college. In that game, Moorhead sent in an ineligible player for several minutes of play. It was discovered after the game that he had attended Winona State Teachers college for several weeks before transferring to Moorhead, thus making him ineligible. On Oct. 10, the Dragons swamped the Bemidji Beavers by a 20-7 score.

It was this same Bemidji team that handed Winona State Teachers college a 7-0 setback on Oct. 3. The following week, while Bemidji was being snowed under by Moorhead, Winona came to Duluth to whip the Bulldogs 7-0. By simple arithmetic, if Moorhead beat Bemidji, Bemidji beat Winona, and Winona beat Duluth, Moorhead should have a decided advantage in the coming battle.

To mar Duluth's homecoming would be particularly sweet for Moorhead. Just one year ago tomorrow the Bulldogs held the Dragons to a 7-7 tie on the later's home field.

Last year the Bulldogs faced the Superior Yellowjackets at homecoming. Duluth entered the game undefeated, with a record of two wins and two ties, while Superior had been defeated once, by Mankato. The Bulldogs came out on the short end of that one 13-7.

Without a doubt Coach Lloyd Peterson's charges will put up a good fight in tomorrow's game. Given their share of the breaks, the Bulldogs will give a good showing of themselves.

BULLDOG MA

BY GEORGE McNAMARA

Fourteen hundred and forty-one students in school and only about two hundred attended the game last Saturday. What is wrong? Is this what we should expect when our school becomes larger? Or is there some other reason? I for one would like to know what it is.

When our injury-riddled team was on the verge of scoring on several occasions last Saturday you could just about hear a pin drop it was so quiet. In moments like this our team needs a lift. The students sounded more like they were mourning the team's funeral. To be frank with you, ten students from Winona State Teachers college all but drowned out the whole UMD cheering section.

I feel sorry for the cheer leaders. They are trying to do a good job, but it must be embarrassing for them to lead a cheer when the student body won't respond either by coming to the game or cheering.

I believe in giving credit where credit is due, and to date no mention has been made in either the city papers or the STATESMAN of the brilliant line play of center Dave Persha, tackle Tom "Hose Nose" Theborge, and end Aldo Di Marki. These men turn in performances that merit conference recognition, but probably won't get it because of the team's low conference standing.

Acting captain Ed "Dingle" Berry's face was pretty red last Saturday when referee Tommy O'Neil asked him whether he wanted the play or the penalty, and Ed took the play. The situation was this: UMD's ball, fourth down and three, Mike Peterson went in to kick and got it off nicely. There was a horn on the play. Winona was offside, a five-yard penalty. Berry, when asked whether he wanted the play or the penalty, took the play, not realizing that the penalty (five yards) would have given UMD a first down.
